ALICE COLTRANE Journey In Satchidananda (Acoustic Sounds)

One of Rolling Stone's 500 Greatest Albums of All Time, Alice Coltrane's fourth Impulse! album finds her on piano and harp in the company of saxophonist Pharoah Sanders. "Almost 50 years after [it] was released, the album remains a vision of universal healing, spiritual self preservation in times of trouble and the god that appears when you seek her out." (NPR)

Remastered 180g LP £33.99

ALTIN GUN Ask (Glitterbeat)

Marks an exuberant return to the 70s Anatolian folk-rock sound that characterised their first two albums. A record that radiates the infectious energy found in the Amsterdam-based sextet's celebrated live performances and next levels the group's ground breaking sonic palette of Turkish psychedelic groove pop, sci-f disco and dreamy acid folk.

DEATHCRASH Less (Untitled (recs))

London slowcore band with a statement in reduction that turns out to be as powerful and potent as it is tender and introspective. "The mission statement was to be super minimal," says deathcrash singer Tiernan Banks. "Just simple and beautiful guitar parts and to be really bare. To be...less."

DOROTHY MOSKOWITZ Under An Endless Sky (Tompkins Square)

An interchange that took place between electronic composer Francesco Paolo Paladino, composer and writer Luca Chino Ferrari, and the legendary Dorothy Moskowitz, an icon of underground culture who broke all kinds of new ground as a member of The United States of America. This is their lone eponymous album on Columbia Records in 1968. It has taken on a mythic status that has grown through the years, sampled by Diplo and Mac Miller and widely acknowledged as a visionary psychedelic classic.

CD £11.99

EDDIE CHACON Sundown (Stones Throw)

'Sundown' is "low-key R&B legend" Eddie Chacon's soulful, meditative debut for Stones Throw Records. The album was written with and produced by John Carroll Kirby. Eddie Chacon rose to fame in the duo Charles & Eddie, whose 1992 single "Would I Lie To You" was a #1 hit around the world. Chacon returned in 2020 with the album 'Pleasure, Joy and Happiness', widely acclaimed by the New York Times, Guardian, and many more.

JEN CLOHER I Am The River, The River Is Me

On their first album in five years, Cloher finally breathes out. A verdant and rich album; it luxuriates in stillness, and carries itself with cool, unfussy confidence. It suggests that home is not found in a place or a politic, but in the community you keep.

JOYCE STREET Tied Down (Numero Group)

A 1970s homemaker stuck between the studio and a getting dinner on the table, Joyce Street eked out an arresting countrypolitan discography in the margins of an otherwise traditional American life. • With lyrics drawn from the pages of her diary, Street's stirring Mississippi warble led her into the fly-by-night world of custom studios, cutting tracks for upstart country concerns like Reena, Sonobeat, Revelation and Arc. Channelling the honky-tonk angel energy of Bobbie Gentry, Loretta Lynn and Jeannie C Riley, 'Tied Down' compiles a decade's worth of melodies disguised as lottery tickets"

Ltd. Clear LP £22.99

KMD (MF Doom) Black Bastards (Rhymesayers)

Before MF DOOM donned his mask and became one of the most prolific MC-producers of modern Hip-Hop, he was a member of KMD, an early '90s rap group whose work still goes criminally under-appreciated to this day.
