EDWIN R STEVENS God On All Fours (Ankst)

Emerging from behind the shadow of his "singer/songwriter" alias, Irma Vep, Stevens perhaps reveals more of himself as a human being than ever before. If Irma Vep's overpowering compulsion was for self-analysis bordering on self-flagellation (as hilarious and thrilling as that often was), under his own name his stories seem more well-rounded, more honest.

LP £17.99

FUSE (Richie Hawtin) Dimension Intrusion (Warp)

Indies 2LP £25.99

GERAINT WATKINS Aide-Memoire

a forty-one track two CD set which draws attention to a wondrous selection of material from albums in a solo career that has only rarely been glimpsed between Watkins' distinguished work for other artists.

2CD £12.99

GET THE BLESSING Pallett

An exploration of the nexus of improvisation and modern production. Grounded by thick, punchy bass lines and playful drum grooves, the record creates deep sonic spaces through the use of dizzying delays, squelching filtered loops and trails

JOHNNY FLYNN & ROBERT MACFARLANE The Moon Also Rises

At its heart are the oldest themes of all: death and renewal, darkness and light. The first five tracks are songs of burial, shadows and memory, while the final four are songs of awakening, light and love. The album turns around a central song, 'The Sun Also Rises', which stands with a foot in both dark and light
